VOL. 1. SALISBURY, N. C., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1865. NO. 142

From the Charleston News.

Emigration and DeBow's Letter.

The South, at present, stands in need of working men, farmers and mechanics—the former being particularly wanted. Their speedy introduction by organized effort should engage the attention of every man who desires the quick restoration of prosperity, and the development of the great resources which nature has bestowed upon us. Much of our former system of working the soil will have to be changed, and the scientific farming system practiced at the North and in the best cultivated countries of Europe, be substituted. Should not our districts immediately organize emigration associations, which should appoint agents to proceed to the North, Scotland, England, Belgium, who should be empowered to offer inducements to farmers of good character to come and settle on the soil of South Carolina? The agents should be men thoroughly conversant with the soil and climate, and such as would possess the energy to visit the farmers at their homes, and to set before them the great advantage of an immediate settlement in the South. Our former fellow-citizen, Mr. J. D. B. DeBow, has been writing an article in the Northern press, and addressed to Governor Perry, favoring emigration to this section. In the following statement he exhibits, by facts taken from the Census of 1850, the rapid strides of the North and West as compared with the South, which difference was largely owing to emigration. He says:

It followed that whilst the Northern and Western States, from the constant stream of hardy and industrious immigrants who were pouring in, exhibited miracles of progress and development, the South, with vast natural resources for mining, manufactures and agriculture, advanced in but the slow ratio of its natural increase, and immense dominions, capable of contributing untold treasures to the commerce of the world, remained hermetically sealed.

The census of the United States was conclusive upon this point, and I quote from the compendium of 1850, page 170:

	Improved ⅌ ct.	Val. per acre.
New England States	26	420.27
Middle States	35	28.08
Southern States	16	5.34
Southwestern States	10	6 26
Northwestern States	13	11.39

Speaking of the policy necessary to be pursued by the South, and the value of her immense resources, he remarks that the South must throw her immense uncultivated domain into the market at a low price; reduce the quantity of land held by individual proprietors, and resort to intelligent and vigorous measures at the earliest moment, to induce an influx of population and capital from abroad.

That the landed properties of the South have been, in general, too large, and that great benefit would result to the proprietors by dispensing, at low rates, of the surplus, can scarcely be considered open to argumentation. Several years since I caused the returns of the United States census, of which I was then in charge, to be examined upon the point, and the result for the number of farms, which were selected at random, was as follows:

	Farms.	Over 100 acres.
Kentucky	943	83
Louisiana	1558	467
South Carolina	9400	2718
Michigan	3181	30
Ohio	1055	19
Pennsylvania	1044	17
Rhode Island	2250	18

The staples of the South are of such inestimable value to the commerce of the world that they have, in the past, and promise beyond all contingency in the future, to come into triumphant competition with those of every other country upon the face of the earth. Sugar, cotton, rice and tobacco, hemp and naval stores, are all articles of universal and almost unlimited demand, at prices which, considering the cost of production upon cheap land, will yield results to agricultural labor for which there is no parallel. But beyond these staple growths, the climates and soils of the vast region which stretches from the Potomac to the Rio Grande, are favorable to every product upon which industry and capital are expended in any country. The vast mineral resources which geological surveys have divulged, which no hand of industry has yet attempted to develope, and the infinite number of manufacturing sites, all present the most tempting baits to enterprise, and will open up the results for it, which nothing in the history of the times has equaled, dazzling and magnificent as have been its past achievements.

Mr. DeBow makes the following valuable suggestions in reference to the mode in which capital and labor should be invited to come here:

In what manner, then, shall we proceed to invite capital and population to the South? I answer: Consult and abide by the experience of those States and communities which have grown populous and rich by the success which attended their efforts to secure immigration.

And first I would suggest the appointment of one or two commissioners from each of the States, who shall meet at some central point, say at Atlanta, Ga., or at Montgomery, Ala., and, in order that no time may be lost, I will suggest that the commissioners be nominated by the Provisional Governors.

The object of the commission would be to advertise to the world that our people are in earnest in the matter and in accord, and it would tend to secure such harmony of action between the States as would be most conclusive to success.

The commission should be a permanent body, and should at once open correspondence with every section and district in the several States, inviting information upon the character and value of [illegible] and the quantity available for settlement, and the lowest cash and credit prices of the same. This information ought to be given to the public in the form of circulars and addresses, translated into German and French, and distributed abroad through our Consular agents.

The importance of energetic action and our capacity for future prosperity is thus alluded to:

If there ever was, then, a period in the history of a people, when it became necessary for them to be aroused as one man into action, and to put their shoulders to the wheel and with energy and spirit and with the determination to make a giant and master struggle, that period has come for the South. With a country wasted by long and devastating war, with habits of labor broken up, with the machinery of industry destroyed, and a great social and industrial problem to be solved under an extraneous pressure, which at times is most unreasoning and unreasonable, the condition of the South has scarcely a parallel in modern times. But dark as is the picture, there is a redeeming feature. All is not lost where the unconquerable will is left. The giant convulsion which has just shaken the land to its centre, has not been without its beneficial effects. It has stirred up a new and higher spirit. The energies which were brought into play by arms, and the intellectual resources which were called forth and exhibited themselves in the thousand appliances and resorts to which a people without machinery, without preparation, and without access to the exterior world, were driven to support a conflict with the most powerful nation upon earth, each and all are the harbingers and augury of a future for the South from which she need not shrink. Resuming her place in the mighty empire of States, no son of hers will have reason to be ashamed of her place in the picture.

A CARD

To the Voters of Rowan County.

The undersigned offers himself as an independent candidate to represent you in the House of Commons at the ensuing Legislature. I deem it unnecessary to review my antecedents in connection with the late war, as they are too well known by you to require comments. If elected, I pledge myself to give to the administration of President Johnson the support it demands, and will use every exertion consistent with honor, to procure a speedy withdrawal of U. States troops from the State, and to facilitate reconstruction by the admission of North Carolina to a full participation in all the rights and powers of a State, under the Federal Constitution.

As regards the election of other offices, the statement of any preference I may feel for candidates for any other office, would seem like dictation on my part, and I shall refrain from doing so, as I think every man should vote according to the dictates of his judgment and conscience.

I am uncompromisingly opposed to negro suffrage, restricted or general, in any manner shape or form.

If elected, I shall vote for a Commissioner to recover property belonging to the State, improperly taken during the war, so as to lighten your taxes as much as possible. I shall also favor the election of Magistrates, Judges, and other officers, by the people—as I regard the people the best judges of those who would suit them. I shall also favor hard work, short speeches and short sessions of the Legislature to lessen our expenses. I am a plain man, sprung from the people—one of yourselves—my feelings and sympathies are with the people—I think I understand them, and if elected, believe I can reflect their wishes. Your ob't survant,

ELECTIONS.

The Elections for Governor, Representatives to Congress, and Members of Assembly, Sheriffs and Clerks, will take place on Thursday, the 9th day of November, 1865.

National Union Andrew Johnson Ticket!

FOR GOVERNOR,

WILLIAM W. HOLDEN,

OF WAKE COUNTY.

FOR THE SENATE

FRANK E. SHOBER, Esq.

Opportunity Lost.

The electors have at the election on tomorrow the opportunity of voting for W. W. Holden, the President's choice out of all the State for Provisional Governor—his election may tend towards bringing about re-construction, whereas the election of Mr. J. Worth, may tend to retard our progress in that regard. Gov. Holden's election cannot make the matter worse, whereas, Mr. Worth's election would, to put the best face on the matter be a leap in the dark. Dr. William Sloan is a "straight" Union man—has never wavered but always been like your noble delegate Dr. Jones, as true to his Union principles as the needle to the pole. His antecedents are like, those of Dr. Jones. Bear in mind that he never proclaimed "war to the knife—knife to the hilt," and that Dr. Ramsay did. Bear it in mind that the test oath will be required—that he can take it and that Dr. Ramsay cannot. Bear it in mind that Dr. Ramsay boasted of his loyalty to the Union with an oath of disloyalty fresh on his lips. Bear it in mind, all ye soldiers, that Dr. Ramsay urged you now declares that all the while, he longed for the stars and stripes to waive over us. Bear it in mind also that he urged you to fight, in what he declares that he then thought to be an unjust and unwholly cause.

Bear it also in mind, my former fellow soldiers, that William Sloan did none of these things—but while he opposed the war on principle his feelings warmed with sympathy at your sufferings, and his heart bled for your fate. There is no cleverer man than Walkup, but from all accounts, we believe that, every vote thrown for him will not help him, but Dr. Ramsay who urged you to war "war to the knife the knife to the hilt" as he confesses hoping all the time that you would be whipped.

Then if you don't want Ramsay elected, vote for his strongest opponent Dr. Sloan. To all we would urge.—Rally and poll your votes for Holden and Sloan. You may otherwise regret it as an opportunity for reconstruction lost.

The Coming Election.

The election is close at hand and the excitement is at a fever heat. For Governor the friends of Holden and Mr. Worth are making great efforts. For the Senate in this district Col. Frank E. Shober has no opposition. This is as it should be and we are gratified to find that by a unanimous vote, Rowan will testify her appreciation of his sterling qualities. The withdrawal of Dr. Lucky leaves in the field for the House of Commons, Luke Blackmer Esq., David L. Bringle and Moses L. Holmes.

For Congress the candidates in this district are Dr. Wm. Sloan, Col. S. H. Walkup and Dr. J. G. Ramsay. For the county Clerk, we have Obadiah Woodson and A. W. Owen. For Sheriff, W. A. Walton and Solomen Klutts, are the candidates. For Clerk of the Superior Court, Thomas McNeely has no opposition, but of these candidates every variety of taste can be gratified. Walk to the voters and take your choice.

YOUNT'S STORE, N. C.,

EDITOR BANNER:—Peace, prosperity and happiness continues to reign Supreme in this fair portion of Carolina. The weather is lovely and delightful and the farmers are making good use of it in sowing their wheat crop, and harvesting their corn which has most bountifully remunerated them for their labor.

The rapidly approaching election is commencing to create a small jar in the minds of the citizens. Considerable speculation exists as to which will be the successful candidate for Governor. Worth and Holden have their supporters, but we think the former will carry this county (Catawba) by a very handsome majority.

Drs. Mott and Ellis are candidates for the Legislature. They, both, were candidates for the late convention, and Ellis was elected by a small majority. It will be very close this time.

Dr. Ramsay addressed a large concourse of the citizens at Newton last week. Although we were much indisposed, we could not help noticing and admiring the brilliancy of his lucid eloquence and the erudition and logic of his remarks.

"Eloquence that charms and burns,
Startles, soothes and wins by turns."

We understand he has no oppsition and of course will be elected.

More anon,

G C. Mc.

Our correspondent must be a very susceptible individual, if he will allow himself to be led astray by the eloquence of Dr. Ramsay. We do not deny the fact that the Dr. is eloquent: We heard him very eloquently declare, not a hundred years since, that we must have war! war to the knife, and the knife to the hilt. It was such eloquence that carried many a poor fellow to the army whom he deserted in after days.

Dr. Ramsay has opposition, the able and liberal minded Dr. Wm. Sloan of Gaston is his opponent, and we belive Dr. Sloan will beat the "eloquent" Dr. Ramsay very badly.

Remarks of D. M. Furches, of Davie, in the Convention of North Carolina, Oct. 17th, 1865, (night session) in presenting an amendment to the section of a Act to provide revenue for 1865.

This section levies a tax of 25 cents on each gallon of spirituous liquors distilled in North Carolina during the year 1865.

Mr. Furches proposed to amend by striking out "twenty-five," and inserting "ten," upon the submission of which he said, in substance:

Mr. President—I offer this amendment in justice to my constituents, whom I have the honor to represent upon this floor—I know sir, to have protection, we must have civil government, and that the wheels of that government cannot roll on without money. And sir, I am not opposed to my constituents paying their just proportion of a tax, sufficient to support that government.

But sir, in justice to them I cannot remain silent in my seat, and allow an act discriminating so unjustly against them, to pass without raising my voice in opposition to it.

Whisky, is already taxed $2.00, and brandy $1.50 on the gallon, by the Federal Government. After paying tax, the manufacturer cannot realize more than 75 cents on the gallon, out of which he has to pay whole cost and expense of producing the same—(I know of distillers having made sales upon these terms.)

Then sir, this bill proposes to place an additional tax of 25 cents on each gallon for State purposes, which is about 33⅓ per cent. or one third of the gross income. While it proposes only to levy a tax of $2 on a bale of cotton in the hands of the purchaser, or one dollar if in the hands of the purchaser. A bale of cotton is worth from three to four hundred dollars, making the tax not exceed from ½ to 1 per cent. on the gross amount. On each hogshead of tobacco, or two hundred dollars worth of manufactured tobacco two dollars, making a tax of not more than one per cent. On each barrel of turpentine, worth from four to five dollars, a tax of five cents, and on each barrel of rosin ten cents, making a tax not exceeding from one to two per cent. Then sir, while it proposes to tax spirituous liquors 33⅓ per cent. it does not propose to tax either of the above enumerated articles more at farthest than two per cent. Then sir, I cannot vote for an act which discriminate so unjustly against my constituents. This is to operate retrospectively as well as prospectively—taxing men upon sales they have made without any notice or chance to provide against, and I assure you it would operate very ruinous in my section of the State.

My amendment sir, proposes to reduce this tax from 25 cents on the gallon to ten cents, which will still leave it much higher than it is upon those I have enumerated. If this amendment is agreed to, I will support the ordinance, otherwise I cannot.

National Thanksgiving Day.

Proclamation by President Johnson.

By the President of the United States of America.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas it has pleased Almighty God during the year which is now coming to an end, to relieve our beloved country from the fearful scourge of civil war, and to permit us to secure the blessings of peace, unity and harmony with a great enlargement of civil liberty: And Whereas our Heavenly Father has also during the present year graciously averted from us the calamities of foreign war, pestilence and famine, while our granaries are full of the fruits of an abundant season: And Whereas righteousness exalteth a nation, while sin is a reproach to any people:

Now, therefore, be it known, that I ANDREW JOHNSON, President of the United States, do hereby recommend to the people thereof that they do set apart and observe the first Thursday of December next as a day of National Thanksgiving to the Creator of the Universe for these deliverences and blessings. And I do further recommend, that on the occasion the whole people make confession of our national sins against His infinite goodness, and with one heart and one mind implore the Divine guidance in the ways of national virtue and holiness.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this twenty-eighth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty five, and of the Independence of the U. States of America the nineteenth.
